

Making It On Your Own

Launching, Running and GROWING a Successful Consulting Practice

An interactive training course that delivers the tools and skills you need to be an effective solopreneur and not only successfully launch your consulting firm but also manage it once established.

This interactive one-day workshop will help you to...

- Recognize and understand the many roles of being a solopreneur and small business owner
- Review the steps required to launch your firm and create new service offerings
- Discuss effective techniques for running a sustainable consulting practice
- Develop a growth strategy for enabling the continued success of your firm

Who should participate in this workshop?

- Internal practitioners looking for direct guidance and support in launching their own consulting practices
- New external consultants who just recently started their firms and want to take it to the next level
- Experienced external consultants who want to enhance their market presence with new service offerings
